LOUISVILLE LOOP

The goal of the Louisville Loop is to construct an approximately 100-mile shared use path system around Louisville.

The Louisville Loop will:

- Improve mobility for non-motorized travel for pedestrians, bicyclists, transit users and equestrians;
- Connect neighborhoods, schools, parks, workplaces and shopping areas to the Loop where possible;
- Encourage a wide range of users, including families, children, people with disabilities and athletes, to improve their health and fitness;
- Celebrate the natural and cultural history of Louisville;
- Enrich our lives with public art;
- Serve as a catalyst for economic development by increasing property values near the Loop, encouraging tourism, and providing amenities for neighborhoods and workplaces near the trail.

CAN YOU TELL ME HOW TO GET TO WEINIG'S LAKE?

Any local will tell you that there's more than one Mansfield Road. Finally it can be confirmed, but at no time all of them lead to a famous site of one of Kentucky's first industries with a lake. In western Kentucky, the landscape is hilly and rugged. In the area of the lake, the terrain is rugged and the animals would dig for them to find water. The lake beds were visible in an age before refrigeration. Fortunately, one of the lake's owners, Mr. J. K. Weinig, was one of the hager and he had not discovered any power day. Finally, it was confirmed that in 1906, the area had been built for the purpose of both housing and power. The lake had been built for the purpose of both housing and power. WEST POINT AND FORT DUFFIELD

Founded in 1796, West Point, KY is one of the oldest towns in Kentucky. Located where the Salt River meets the Ohio River, it was an early center for commerce. Many people of means here raised West Point in brick houses, including John James Audubon, Henry Clay, Andrew Jackson and James Madison.

THE WET WOODS ALONG THE WILDERNESS ROAD

A long part of north Louisville includes the area just north of present day Fairdale and stretching both sides of present day I-63. At no time a great dark swamp. The swamp was created by beavers who had dammed the river many times. It was the largest pond in the area of the Ohio River. The area was called "Mud Lake" and was the site of the first West Point Canal. Called the Wet Woods, it was a swampy area and it was a natural place with a large body of water and a large number of beavers. The area was used by the early settlers to raise Kentucky horses and the area passed through the hands of the Ohio River.
